The AD-1026 form certifies highly erodible land and wetland compliance on all land owned by the landowner. If the landowner is a general partnership, conservation compliance is also required for each partner. "Filed" means this form has been received by FSA, but the information has not yet been certified. "Certified" confirms that the land is in conservation compliance. This information must be certified before any funds are obligated to a parcel. Consult with a FSA program specialist for more information

Landowners must have an average adjusted gross income (AGI) less than $900,000 for the previous three years. This information is certified by the IRS. "Filed" means this form has been received by FSA, but the information has not yet been verified by IRS. "Compliant" means the landowner's AGI does not exceed the limit. "Compliant - less than 3 years" means the IRS has verified the AGI but 3 years of tax information is not available. This information must be certified before any funds are obligated to a parcel. Consult with your state's program manager for more information. Individual members of an entity landowner must also meet the AGI threshold, except for Indian tribes and nonprofits. Members must each have their AGI certified by the IRS and will have Subsidiary Prints established.
